THE DAILY POEM

BALLAD OF TREES AND THE MASTER.

Into the woods my Master went,
Clean forspent, forspent.
Into the woods my Master came,
Forspent with love and shame.
But the olives they were not blind to Him.

The little grey leaves were kind to Him.
The thorn tree had a mind to Him
When into the woods He came.

Out of the woods my Master went,
And He was well content.
Out of the woods my Master came,
Content with death and shame.
When death and shame would woo Him last.

From under the trees they drew Him last;
'Twas on a tree they slew Him—last
When out of the woods He came.

Mrs. Buylow Goes to Market

Mrs. Buylow found St. Lawrence Market abloom with wild blossoms and garden flowers on Saturday morning. There were geraniums at $1.50 to $4 for a dozen plants; pansies, 50 cents to $1 a dozen plants; wild violet roots, 5 cents each; woody ferns, two boxes of roots, for 25 cents; wild baby's breath, the same price, and old-fashioned ribbon grass, 10 cents a root, and English daisies, 25 cents a dozen.

New-laid eggs were 27 to 30 cents a dozen, and butter was 30 to 35 cents a pound. Chickens were 25 to 28 cents a pound, and squabs 75 cents a pair.

Some Things Expensive.

Asparagus Mrs. Buylow thought pretty expensive at three bunches for 25 cents, especially when she counted the short stalks and found only five in a bunch.

Search as she would, Mrs. Buylow could find no head lettuce, and bought some at a shop on her way home. Beans were 15 cents a box; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; cucumbers, two for 15 cents; new kohlrabi, 5 cents a bunch; little onions, three bunches for 5 cents; rhubarb, three bunches for 10 cents; strawberries, 10 cents a box, and pineapples 10 cents each.

The fish man had periwinkles at 10 cents a quart.

"They were fifteen during the last time I noticed them," Mrs. Buylow said.

Cod was 12 1-2 cents a pound; hal-but, Meaford trout and live eels, 15 cents.

wounded before the stretcher-bearers found him.

Mrs. Alex. Fraser was hostess at a Gaelic cèilidh on Saturday night at her home on Woodlawn avenue. A large number were present. The art of translation from the English to the Gaelic language was the subject of a short Gaelic address by Dr. Fraser, who gave renderings in Gaelic of Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith" and other pieces to illustrate his topic.
Among those who took part were Mr.
Angus Gillies and Mr. Ronald Mac-Innes.

COMMENCEMENT

This evening at the Margaret Eaton
School of Literature and Expression begins promptly at 8.15. Addresses will be given by the President, Dr.
Burwash, the Principal of the school, and Mr. Albert Smythe of the editorial staff of The World. Mrs. Eaton will present the prizes, certificates and diplomas to the graduates.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

WOMAN'S HIGH PLACE IN THE COMING ERA

Margaret Eaton Closing— Scholarships and Graduates —Mr. Smythe's Address

Torrents of rain and then more rain failed to dampen the ardor of the sweet girl graduates or of the audience that assembled at the Greek Theatre last night for the annual commencement of the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression. The President, Rev. Nathaniel Burwash, LL.D., opened the program, and later gave a review of the history of the school, especially of the past year. He drew especial attention to the perfecting of the physical and spiritual life of the pupils, and the great importance of this in regard to the present as well as the future life, which should be rich in the joy of living, developing into the full perfection of life eternal.

Mr. Hubert S. Martindale's piano numbers, Grieg's Sonata, opus 7, and Sibeli's Romance, were rendered in musicianly style.

Mr. Smythe on Womanhood

Mr. A. E. S. Smythe, in an address on "Womanhood," pointed out that the age that is passing had been a man's age, and Queen Victoria a man's woman. In the Victorian era the idylls of the King was thought to be immoral and Mrs. Browning immo-dest. In the woman's age that is coming much is expected from the wider influence women will exert on public thought. We must learn to rejoice in leath as in birth, that we may be born again and be born better. When women were enfranchised they would consider a seat in Parliament as their chief goal. We must learn that the kingdom of heaven is within ourselves, and women had never lost sight of this fact, as had men.

The diplomas and prizes were graciously awarded by Mrs. Eaton to the flower-laden graduates, after which Mrs. Nasmith gave a very inspiring address to the graduates, concluding with the reading and practical application of Browning's "Pippa Passes."

Scholarships Awarded

The scholarships awarded were as follows: The Matilda Rogers Scholarship of $150, to Winifred Nixon; the R. Y. Eaton Scholarship of $100, to Jean Mitchell; the Harry McGee Scholarship of $50, to Mary B. Halbus; the J. J. Vaughan Scholarship of $25, to Ada London; the Margaret in to a fairly broad cincture and look very trim and smart. It is not likely that woman, emancipated from the tyranny of stays drawn in till she looked like an hour-glass, will ever go back to the torture, but a band that fits, worn exactly on the waist-line, is just as comfortable as the girdle that looked as if it were trying to reach and ensnare its owner's neck.

Easter Gifts Reach Men in Trenches

As a result of an offering of $300, made at a meeting held at Mr. H. D. Warren's before Easter, 1,084 parcels, containing a towel and soap, were sent to the 19th and 20th Battalions and the 4th Artillery Brigade, all of whom were at Exhibition Camp last winter. Each parcel bore a card with:

"Best wishes and Easter greetings from the women workers of the Canadian Committee of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, Toronto, 1916."

The gift reached the trenches safely, and one of the Orillia men in the 20th Battalion, writing to his mother, said of it: "We were glad to have the towels, but the thing that made us care most for it was that it was from the Brotherhood. Please get word to the lady that was the main push to tell the other ladies that the men of the 20th look back to the Brotherhood canteen with grateful love for the ladies who ran it."

GENERAL MERCER PRAISED FRENCH

"Wonderful People," He Says
in Letter to Carl Ahrens.

ALL DOING THEIR BIT

Women Cheerful and Co-operative as They Do
Farm Work.

The following letter was received yesterday by Carl Ahrens of Lambton Mills from General Mercer:

Dear Carl:
Your very welcome letter arrived last night. Pleased to hear from you and that you are all well. Nothing very new that I can write about. The last half of April was very hot, then some cool days with considerable rain. Now most of the weather.

The country is now too beautiful for words, so out of keeping with the desolation of the once picturesque towns and villages and the ruins of the most noted structures. You will never really have lived till you see Europe, but from the view of the artist's standpoint, but from the view of experience. Our outlook on life is all so different to our former experience. The two do not have hands to play bright air returning from funerals as is the custom in peace times, we have learnt from necessity the meaning of it all and turn away from the graves of our comrades with a smile and a cheery word for the living. There is always some thing you can do for their comfort and safety.

Then again the people are wonderful. Farming is done by the old men, the women and children with most excellent results. There is every crop of splendid wheat, barley, oats, etc. The growth is extraordinary, wheat heading out, oats well on. Grass-cutting has commenced all ready. Gardens are pictures of rare beauty and utility. Women plough, harrow, reap and every other kind of farm work and do it well. All the hours of labor are done with a cheerful and confident, cheerful and confident, cheerful and confident.

No people in all the world are so courteous as the French. Have met some very nice families from ruined towns that have lost everything, practically, but they are still in the war, and they are doing a bit for the cause and doing it cheerfully and well.

Complete Units.
Yesterday in a letter by a Toronto officer by the 74th and 75th Toronto units, will go complete regiments, source word was received, 2nd, 3rd and 4th battalions.

BRITAIN CRIPPLES FOE'S SEA POWER

Naval Action Puts German Fleet Out of Use for Months.

TO TIGHTEN BLOCKADE

Enemy Will Be Worse Off
Than Ever, Declares Mr.
Balfour.

LONDON, June 7.—One result of the North Sea battle of last week is that for many months it will be impossible for the Germans to attempt naval movements which they might have undertaken before the battle was fought, said A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, in an address which he delivered today. In his speech, made before the British Imperial Council, Mr. Balfour said it was impossible at the present time to go into details of the battle, as he had no connected view of the whole action from any trustworthy source. Admiral Jellicoe's despatch giving his views had not been received, British losses had been stated inaccurately, while no value could be placed on the German reports which Mr. Balfour declared were tainted from the first. He said: "The battleships which the Germans still insist were sunk, evidently referring to the Warships, had been safe in port since Thursday."

German Losses Greater.
Dealing with the broad issue of the result, Mr. Balfour declared the German losses were greater than the British, and asked why, if the Germans had defeated the British, they had not pressed their advantage. He said, never was under the delusion that the German fleet was superior to the British, and the Germans, therefore, were not to blame if they ran away. It would be bad strategy for the German commander to become involved in a decisive fight. Neither in the North Sea, he asserted, could the Germans attempt to blockade and control an organized fleet such as might have been within their power before the battle.

Invasion Dream Ended.
As a result of the battle, Mr. Balfour declared, the German dream of an invasion of England had been dispelled, and as regarded the blockade and control of the sea, the Germans were worse off than ever.

Mr. Balfour eulogized Earl Kitchener, who, he said, to Great Britain's allies, was the embodiment of the militant forces of the empire. Perhaps the greatest triumph of Kitchener's life, Mr. Balfour said, was his successful effort to create a vast military machine, which was now prepared to do its share in the military undertakings of the allies.

INDIA IS BEHIND BRITISH EMPIRE

Natives by Donations, Prayers and Sacrifices Show Love for Motherland.

AGITATIONS DROPPED

So Declared Rev. H. Haslam, India Missionary, Before
Anglican Synod.

Not only had three princes of India alone made gifts to the British Government of $5,000,000, but the very peasants had made collections of amounts, no matter how small, from each person and had brought them in the many collecting places, in order that they, too, might assist the empire in the war, said Rev. H. A. Haslam, at the annual missionary meeting in connection with the Anglican Synod in the St. James parish house last night. This giving in still continued and the people of the Punjab have lately contributed $40,000 for the providing of two armored aeroplanes for the use of the British army.

Despite these huge sums of money that had been devoted to the war, he said, had not been a single official, either European or native, who had misappropriated a cent. When Mr. Haslam counted in the papers of the church made in connection with the Dominion war expenditures, it was his one hope that these papers would never be read in India. He suggested that a class committee of bishops and leaders of churches should elect to that dishonored class all those found taking advantage of this crisis to enrich their private purses, in order that they and their children might have the deserved penalties.

Troubles in India.
Mr. Haslam told of the troubles in India prior to the war, the direct work of the Hindus in Africa, and the verities of the Hindu reforms made and the fight near Cawnpore, another piece of German intrigue, all these and many more had the people of India seething and seditious.

No sooner had the war been declared, however, than India dropped all its agitations and stood with the empire as one man. Over three hundred thousand men were engaged in Mesopotamia, Egypt and Africa. Twelve of the sixteen officers of a little Gurkha regiment near his station had been lost in two engagements along with 250 men, and not one returning with their wives.

The women had come out of the zenanas in order to help the English women supply the Red Cross needs of Mesopotamia.

Praying for Allies.
Last month the leader of the Moslem League said that their demands were not pressing and could wait and would wait until the war was over, and the many other agitators had taken the same position. In India today, the native priests, both Hindu and Moslem, are calling the natives into the temples to pray for the success of the British arms. This had spread outside of India into Tibet, where the Lamas are praying on their prayer wheels for the success of the empire of the church. Mr. J. M. McCormick of the Canadian mission and Rev. J. R. S. Boyd, rural dean, also gave missionary addresses. Mr. McCormick illustrating his lecture with a number of lantern slides. Bishop Sweeney presided at the meeting and regretted that the inclement weather had prevented a larger attendance.

HON. E. J. DAVIS IS NEW PRESIDENT

Laymen's Association of Toronto Methodist Conference in Session.

TRIBUTE TO ONTARIO

Premier Hearst Praised on Stand He Took on Temperance Act.

The Laymen's Association of the Toronto Methodist Conference met yesterday afternoon in Carlton Street Methodist Church with a large number of delegates present. The meeting was devoted entirely to business, as electing committees and framing resolutions.

The president, in his address, referred to the European struggle and to political compulsion. The war's grim face grows before us. Its harvest of sorrow and desolation increases. Is it not possible that we, by too narrow a view of great interests, have endangered the wellbeing of the world? By our making the Kingdom of God a secondary affair, by our desire for unearned wealth and luxurious ease, have we not invited this war?

Hon. E. J. Davis, the president-elect, paid a tribute to Premier Hearst in his conduct of the temperance question. He referred to his address in regard to this matter as "the best balanced, most judicious, prudent address he had ever heard of on a subject of so great importance." That was the first occasion when party politics were obliterated, and a great moral question advocated unanimously by both political parties.

Resolutions were passed condemning the conduct of public business throughout the Dominion, which, in the recent past, disclosed instances of greed and dishonesty. An expression of appreciation was extended to the provincial government for passing the Temperance Act, and assistance by the conference was assured in securing accommodation for the traveling public.

The following officers were elected: President, Hon. E. J. Davis; first vice-president, J. O. McCarthy; second vice-president, W. H. Bridson; third vice-president, E. Caswell; secretary, W. J. Fawcett; members of executive, W. Hamilton, A. M. Thomson, J. Vokes, H. H. Phillips, T. H. Graham.

WAR SUMMARY

will have accomplished what he set out to do almost two months ago, immediately after the declaration of war. His first attempt, following upon preliminary successes at Turtukal and Silistria, was a costly failure. He pushed forward boldly with a heterogeneous army of about a hundred thousand Germans, Bulgars and Turks to positions stretching across the Dobrudja about fifteen miles south of the railway. The Roumanians, strongly reinforced by a Russian army and a number of Serbian volunteers, made a stand on September 17. The battle continued with varying fortune for three days. On the third Averescu, the Roumanian Commander-in-Chief, attacked all along the front with such energy that von Mackensen's army was beaten and retreated in disorder to a position previously prepared from twelve to fourteen miles in the rear of the lines occupied by the Teutons when the battle began.

THE GERMAN LEADER spent over a month in restoring the morale of his troops and strengthening his army by the addition of a number of German regiments drawn from the Russian and western fronts. While he was preparing to strike again it is believed the Russo-Roumanian army had been drawn upon for men to help in the work of driving back Falkenhayn's armies that were seeking to force a way through the passes of the Transylvanian Alps into Northern Roumania. The authorities at Bucharest evidently believed that von Mackensen would not be able to attack again soon, and "took a chance." The fall of Constanza and the loss of the railway by which Russia was sending men and supplies to aid Roumania is the result.

ON THE TRANSYLVANIAN FRONTIER the outlook brightens. An official despatch announces that in the Trotus Valley, which was reached by way of the Gyimes Pass, the Germans are retiring. They have set fire to a village only five miles within the Roumanian frontier, an indication of retreat. Farther south Falkenhayn's attempts to debouch from the passes have been repulsed with sanguinary losses. All the Roumanian positions have been maintained. The coming of winter will so increase the difficulties of the German forces operating in the Transylvanian Alps that active operations on a large scale will be impossible.

THE FIGHT FOR MONASTIR CONTINUES. The Bulgars, hard pressed, called upon the Germans for help, which was drawn in part from Verdun and in part from the Russian front. The German troops have injected new vigor into the defence. Berlin announces that in the Cerna salient the Allies have been forced to assume the defensive as a result of an attack by German and Bulgarian troops. Paris reports that the Serbs in meeting and repelling this attack inflicted great losses on the Bulgars.

THE BRITISH LINE ON THE WEST FRONT has again been advanced. General Haig reported last night the capture of over a thousand yards of enemy trenches to the east of Guendecourt and Les Boeufs. There was heavy artillery fighting along the front yesterday. The enemy, after shelling the British lines in the neighborhood of Le Surp, massed his infantry to the west near Grandecourt for an attack. This was stopped by the British artillery. Sixty-six additional prisoners were taken during the day around the Schwaben redoubt and at Le Surp.

tory. This war must have so decisive a result that lasting peace can be secured. We are fighting not for a truce, but for victory.

"In all mechanical appliances which have played so great a part in this war the allied nations have almost if not quite overtaken the enemy's standard of preparation. Therefore, the result will depend upon the organization of the man-power of the allied nations. Canada must be strong and resolute in that great endeavor.

"Our strength can be most effectively thrown into this conflict by utilizing, in all our national activities for sustaining the agricultural, industrial, and commercial stability of Canada, those who through age or by reason of physical condition are not available for service at the front; to the end that we may place in the battle line the greatest possible proportion of those fit for military service.

Serve Nation When of Most Value

"With this view the Government has asked the Director-General and the Directors of National Service to undertake duties of the highest importance and urgency. It is imperative that the men and women of Canada, individually and through their various organizations, shall serve the nation in those capacities in which their service may be of the most value. Thus it is the earnest duty of the Canadian people to join with the Government in organizing the full power of the nation in terms of human energy.

Appeal to Men of Canada.

"Under the responsibilities with which I am invested and in the name of the State which we are all bound to serve, it is my duty to appeal, and I do now appeal most earnestly to the people of Canada that they assist and co-operate with the Government and the Directors of National Service in the endeavor for this purpose. To men of military age I make the appeal that they place themselves at the service of the State for military duty. To all others I make appeal that they place themselves freely at the disposition of their country for such service as they are deemed best fitted to perform.

And to the Women.

"And to the women of Canada I

THIRTEEN SHIPS REPORTED SUNK

Twelve Are Neutral and One
British—Twenty-eight Lives Lost

London, Oct. 23.—To-day thirteen vessels, twelve owned in neutral countries and one in Britain, were reported sunk, all presumably by Teutonic submarines. A total of twenty-eight lives are reported lost. Following are the victims: Cabotia, Donaldson liner, British, 4,309 tons; Hebe, Danish, Helga, Danish, 1,182 tons; Fritze, Danish, 1,138 tons; Dfram, Norse, 774 tons; Rabbi, Norse, 878 tons; Risoy, Norse, 1,129 tons; Raftund, Norse, 689 tons; Aris, Greek, 1,794 tons; George M. Embiricos, Greek, 3,636 tons; Lenka, Swedish; Fortuna, Dutch, 1,254 tons.

The captain and fifteen of the crew of the Fortuna are feared lost. Twelve of the crew of the Greek steamer Embiricos are reported missing.

Prince von Buslow, former German Imperial Chancellor, recently informed a neutral newspaperman that since the beginning of the war Germany had constructed 225 submarines, says a despatch from Constance. The German naval authorities, the Prince is reported to have added, are paying more attention to submarines than to battleships, and Austria-Hungary is doing likewise.

CASH STILL ROLLS IN FOR RED CROSS FUND

OVER 32,000 COPPERS AND 26,000
PIECES OF SILVER
RECEIVED.

Toronto's patriotic generosity to the British Red Cross funds resembles the widow's cruse of oil. It seemingly won't run out. Again, all yesterday, the headquarters of the recent campaign was deluged by additional cheques and contributions. The late afternoon mail alone brought $394 in small sums.

It has been in reality a people's campaign, every section of the community doing its full "bit." Sir Edmund Walker, Honorary Treasurer, who was in consultation with Major W. S. Dinneik at headquarters during the afternoon, stated that among the cash receipts were over 32,000 coppers and over 26,000 pieces of silver. Among the gifts which arrived at that time were $25 from the girls of the Alexandria Industrial School, which was earned for the fund by picking berries, and another $25 sent by the Rotary Club of Honolulu.

The staff of tellers and cash counters was kept busy all day. There was a steady stream of callers each

COL. NASMITH RETIRES FROM ACTIVE SERVICE

IS RETURNING TO RESUME DUTIES AS DIRECTOR OF CITY'S LABORATORIES.

The Telegram yesterday had the following from its London correspondent, Douglas Robertson:

When the segregation of Canadian wounded is in full swing, owing to lack of accommodation, there will be a number of extra Canadian hospitals required in England to house them. Col. Nasmith, C.M.G., Toronto, and Col. Adami, Montreal, a McGill professor, have both resigned from the Canadian medical service and are returning to Canada.

Dr. C. J. O. Hastings, Medical Officer of Health, confirmed the report yesterday regarding Col. Nasmith. Dr. Nasmith's work in Europe, he said, was about completed, and what now remained to be done was of a routine character. He would resume his duties as director of the city laboratories.

Dr. Nasmith has been commended by the Imperial authorities for the work which he has done in safeguarding the health of the troops at the front, especially in connection with the water supply. His work was recognized by the King, who conferred on him a C.M.G.

BARNS, CROPS, CATTLE GONE.

Colchester, Oct. 23.—Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock Gordon Howie's two barns were discovered to be on fire. They were destroyed, with his hay, wheat, oats, tobacco and farm implements, also eleven head of cattle that had been brought in on account of the severe storm. The cause of the fire is unknown. There was some insurance.

FRENCH AIRMEN RAID FOE BLAST FURNACES

Twenty-four Planes Drop Big Load of Explosives North of Metz

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Oct. 23.—The following announcement was made to-day:

"Yesterday twenty-four of our machines dropped 4,200 kilograms of bombs on blast furnaces at Hagondange and Fussingues, north of Metz, and also on the railway stations at Thionville, Meuzures-les-Metz, Longwy and Metz-Sablons. They attained their objective.

"On the same day another of our aerial squadrons bombarded the ammunition depot at Monsen road (Sornay).

"This morning German aeroplanes dropped several bombs on Luneville. There were no victims and the material damage was insignificant.

"On the Somme front yesterday two German aeroplanes were brought down and three others were forced down in a damaged condition.

"Finally, last night, good results were achieved by a bombing expedition against factories of Rombach and the railway station at Mars-la-Tour."
